"Champika (Champs) has over 20 years' experience as a pharmacist. Champs has worked as a clinical pharmacist in hospitals in New Zealand, the United Kingdom, and Australia and has held the role of Quality Use of Medicines Pharmacist at the Royal Brisbane and Women's Hospital since 2008. Champika is an experienced researcher and quality improvement specialist who is passionate about implementing sustainable practice change to improve the use of medicines. In her current role, Champika has been involved in implementing the hospital's antimicrobial stewardship program, the IV to Oral initiative, and various projects to improve management of anticoagulation. A key current research interest is optimising opioid prescribing in acute settings."

This presentation is recommended for all opioid prescribers. The presentation equates to one-hour CPD points.
